

The Game To Win Presents...

MAKE HER
HORNY &
CRAVE
FOR SEX!
(IN 3 SIMPLE STEPS)

HOW TO EASILY TURN "NORMAL"
CONVERSATIONS "SEXUAL," IN JUST 3
SIMPLE STEPS,
AND TURN HER ON, SEXUALLY, AND MAKE HER PLEAD TO HAVE SEX WITH YOU.

Hey there! What's up?

Abishek here.

Do you often find yourself having a “normal” (boring, safe, and friendly) conversations with beautiful women?

Do you often get stuck in the normal -- “get-to-know-you” type -- conversation, and don't know how to take it to the next level: go in for the kiss, and even take her back to your apartment?

You don't have a clue how to make beautiful women view you as a fun, playful, and flirty guy?

And, most importantly, do beautiful women often find you boring, safe, and friendly, and they never respond to you sexually?

If you answered “Yes” to any of these questions, then this guide is for you.

Here's what you'll learn in this instant sex guide system:

How to easily turn “normal” conversations “sexual,” in just 3 simple steps, and turn her on, sexually, and make her plead to have sex with you.

By following these three simple steps, you'll effortlessly be able to go in for the kiss, and even bring her back to your apartment, for sex, and avoid the dreaded “friendzone.”

Most guys are clueless when it comes to interacting with women, sexually, and that's why, they often wind up talking about normal, safe, and friendly topics that go nowhere.

But not anymore!

With this new report, you'll quickly be able to display your sexual side to her so that she'll respond to you, sexually too. If done properly, you'll notice she'll start doing a number of interesting things to you, like:

- Choosing you over other shy, friendly, and asexual guys...
- Making her easy talk to...
- Giving you "clear signs" that she wants you to become "sexual" with her...
- Checking you out more...
- Becoming jealous when she sees you talking with other girls...
- Making excuses to talk to you more...

You'll also notice her doing other interesting things to you, like:

- Feeling your skin under your shirt...
- Showing her private tattoos...
- Bending in front of you so that you can get a sneak peek of her cleavage.

The best thing about this guide is that you can read (and absorb) all of the key concepts under 10 minutes and start getting massive results from your interactions with women, starting today; not after one week.

Now, you might be wondering, Why would she respond to me like this all of a sudden.

Here's why: Because she freaking doesn't have a clue why. Really, she doesn't know why she's doing all these sexual things to you, but something about the way you interact with her (which is revealed to you, later in this guide) triggers all kinds of repressed, and long-forgotten, sexual desires in her.

And, trust me when I say this, once she starts to have a "sexual fantasy" about you, she'll let all her guards down when she's around you, and even plead you to take her back to your apartment to bang her.

But you need to understand this first...

She is NOT going to make it any easier for you.

Usually, women are not going to blatantly ask you to make a move on them. She's not going to ask you to kiss her, or tell you that she likes you. That's why, for most of us, sparking attraction with beautiful women is almost unthinkable.

Listen.

The longer you "talk" to her, or "wait" for the "perfect moment" to make a move on her, the faster the chemistry fades away between the two of you.

And because she would not give you any "clear signs," you would not know the "right" time to escalate the interaction, physically, with her: touching her hand, going in for the kiss, grabbing her by the hand and leading her back to your apartment, or doing anything else that lets her know that you're attracted to her, sexually.

How do I know all of these stuffs, you might be wondering.

I know all of these stuffs because I used to be that guy too: nice, boring, and friendly. No wonder many women I went out on a date with labelled me as a "nice guy."

If I was out on a date, I wouldn't enjoy it because I was too occupied trying to figure out when's the right time to pull the trigger. But, obviously, as I mentioned earlier, the girl I was out on a date with would not give out any signs to me, I didn't know how to escalate the conversation, sexually.

But, in this 'new' report, you'll learn how to use "a simple chemistry test" into your interaction to figure out whether or not there's any chemistry between the two of you.

So, if you have been losing girls, or girls have been flaking on you, even after you got their phone numbers, then it's a clear sign, a red flag, that you probably don't know how to turn things "sexual."

But, not anymore.

Here's what you'll discover in this instant escalation guide:

How to fix the issue of not knowing whether or not to go for the 'Close' -- go in for the kiss, or even take her back to your place, for sex.

As you're flirting with her, not talking with her -- a big difference -- you'll notice that she's going to do all the things to encourage you to go for the 'Close,' without even realising what she's doing.

In other words, she's going to make it easier for you to take things to the "next level."

Why did I decide to write this report, you might be wondering.

Well, I decided to write this report because I often get asked by a lot of guys to show them how to turn a "normal" conversation playful, flirtatious, and sexual.

Plus, a lot of guys also want to know things like:

- How to let the girl you're talking to know you're sexually interested in her?
- How to turn her on sexually right from the start of the interaction?
- How to make her view you as a potential "sexual partner"; not just a "friend," or even a "boyfriend."
- What to do exactly once you sense she's into you?
- What to say or do if you're inexperienced -- a virgin -- guy and she suddenly asks you about your sex life?

Well, that's what I am going to reveal in this short guide.

But, before I do that, let me first tell you about...

Biggest Mistakes You're Probably Making Right Now That Is Preventing Her From Your Bedroom...

I see most guys make a lot of mistakes with women almost all the time.

The first biggest mistake most guys make is try to play it 'cool' with the girl once they sense she's into them, either by hiding their emotions, or being cocky and funny.

Now, don't get me wrong. There's nothing wrong being cool, and playing the cocky and funny routine on girls. If done correctly, it can actually build attraction, but most guys, I've noticed, do it the wrong way: Most guys put up the mask of being a 'cool' dude just as an excuse to avoid walking up to a girl and flirting with her, and most importantly, making a damn move on her.

Listen. I used to be that guy too. And, very few girls had any idea that I was even attracted to them, sexually.

Playing it 'cool' only helped boost my ego, because that meant I never had to approach women, and run the risk of getting rejected by them. But, by doing so over and over again, I also noticed my sex life suffering like hell because I hardly got laid.

The second biggest mistake most guys make with girls that prevent them from getting laid is that they either "talk," too much, or "wait," too long to make the move. They do this because they think by "talking" longer with women, she'll start to like him even more, and then, flirting and getting sexual with her will become easier.

Unfortunately, the exact opposite of that happens.

The longer you “talk” to a woman, without being sexual, playful, and flirty, the faster she’ll start to like you. And the more she starts to like you, the less she’ll feel sexual towards you, and put you in the friendzone.

The Biggest Secret Why Most Guys End Up In The Friendship

Most guys fall in the friendzone because they don’t want to destroy the rapport they’ve built with the woman so dearly. Once a guy senses the woman is into him, he starts to act nervous to try anything bold with her, like going in for the kiss, thinking that she’ll view him as just another “pervert” who is trying to get into her pants (which, you actually are :).

So here’s how to avoid the friendzone, you might be thinking.

Here’s how: Be honest about your intention right from the start of the interaction, not later.

Why?

Here’s why: It takes only a fraction of a second for a beautiful woman to decide whether you’re a potential boyfriend material, or just another “creep” (annoying guy) whom she doesn’t want to do anything with.

And, guess what most guys do? They present themselves as a “potential boyfriend material” by doing things like:

1. Showing her that they have “a nice job,” or “an interesting hobby” (like to travel and make money) and all those other “boyfriend” traits.
2. Respecting her way too much to make a move on her (not going in for the kiss).
3. Taking her side, and acting like they’re totally against “jerks” when she tells all the negative things about other players.
4. Listening to her problems and trying to solve them for her.

If you're doing any of these things above, then you're making a big mistake with girls because it does not create any attraction between the two of you.

Here's the harsh truth dating/seduction experts won't tell you: Doing any of the things above will create an ounce of attraction in her, and she'll view you as someone who would make a great boyfriend. And this way you'll lose her... forever.

Why?

Here's why: She'll then start to present her "good girlfriend" traits to you, which are just as "boring" and "predictable" ("unsexual") as your "good boyfriend" traits.

You'll also start to build a lot of comfort level with her and dramatically reduce (or eliminate perhaps) any urgency for sex. And that's how most guys wind up in the dreaded friendzone.

So now, do we all agree that it's better to become sexual with women right from the beginning of the interaction, rather than later?

But, being sexual is not in my personality. It's outside of my comfort zone, and it feels way too awkward to me, you might be thinking.

Don't worry.

The 3 simple steps to instant sex that I'm about to reveal to you makes it simpler and easier.

Listen.

You NEVER Get A Second Chance To Make A First Impression.

If that sound harsh to you, I'll bet you'll find it even difficult to digest what I am about to tell you next.

Movies, magazines, and 99% of the materials about dating, relationships, seduction, and even your parents, close friends, from whom you've been unconsciously modelling and getting advices from, have got it all wrong.

And, if you follow their advice, you can easily mess things up.

The saying, "You'll never get a second chance to make a first impression," is absolutely true, especially in dating and seduction.

It took me almost two years to figure out all these wisdom.

Here's my story: Few years ago, when I didn't know these 3 simple steps to instant sex system, I was hanging out with a girl, Marie. She was a 'girl next door' -- you know, the type of girl that everyone would have a crush on?

When I met her on the street, we both instantly liked each other. We both had that "you and me" kind of vibe around us. Plus, we noticed that we both had many things in common -- love for travel, food, music. We also had a similar sense of humour.

In other words, everything seemed to fall into place.

That's when I decided to play it 'cool,' as suggested by all the dating gurus and books that I've been listening/reading to at that time. But whenever we're together, I found ourselves only "standing" and "talking." And when we were not talking, I would often catch her checking me out, and I was pretty much sure she was into me.

I remember it was during New Year's time. In only a few days, we're going to a New Year's Eve party some of my friends were going to organise. So I thought that's when I would make my move on her, not now. After all, it all made sense because I was pretty sure she was into me.

But, as expected, the entire New Year eve we're together, we did nothing but "stand" and "talk" together. During the night, I remember I was reminding myself, I'll make my move a little later, when she is a little bit drunk and the moment is right.

Later that night, I proposed to go another club to her for an after hour party, and Marie and her two girlfriends came along. At this time, I remember we're all hanging out and having a really good time. After an hour or so, her two girlfriends felt that they should probably leave us (me and Marie) together, and so they left.

And now it was me and Marie together again, alone.

I remember we're both laughing, talking, and recalling every funny little thing that happened during the night. And, the entire time, I was thinking, how can I just change the subject and get her to stop talking to me so that I could kiss her.

I was sitting there on the couch, just wanting to touch her, rub my hands against hers, but all the while, I simply could not steer the conversation away from talking about our work and hobbies and getting it focused on just the two of us.

And soon, the clock chimed 2am, then 3am, and then around at 4 am, she stood up and said, "Well, I should be leaving."

And, the next time when I hung out with Marie, it was the same thing: talking, laughing, strong rapport, but every time our interaction only ended up with me talking myself into believing I would make my move next time.

This went on for a couple of months, until one day when I could hold it no longer anymore, and I sent her a text saying, "Marie, I think I'm interested in you."

The next day, I received, "Hey, Abishek, let's just be friends" speech from her.

So why am I telling you all this?

Well, I am telling you all this because at that time in my life when I had a couple of female friends, and I was really good at flirting with them, and even when my friend assumed that I was really good with women, I always kept this dark secret to myself: I simply could not “close” the deal.

After a couple of months of figuring out all of these newfound wisdom, I went out on a Ski trip with a bunch of my friends, and Marie was also coming along. I used “the 3 simple steps to instant sex system” on her, revealed to you in this report, and we ended up spending the entire weekend together and hooking up.

But, by then, it was “too late” for anything real to come out of it.

Here’s the “priceless” lesson I learned from my mistake: She wasn’t the one to put me in the friendzone. In fact, I was the one to put myself into the friendzone by the way I acted.

Now, I want you to think about a girl with whom you wound up in the friendzone with. Do you really believe she put you there? Of course, not. You put yourself there by the way you acted: nice, friendly, and asexual.

Now, don’t beat yourself about that.

Back then, you didn’t know any better. But, the knowledge that I’m about to deliver to you in this report today will prevent this from happening to you again.

Creating Your Sexualized Persona

In this report, I’m going to reveal to you...

- How to build “sexual tension” right from the start of the conversation, and not later.

- How to use that sexual tension to “close the deal,” and get her back to your/her place, and stop making the same mistake that I made in my hay days.

Not only you’ll avoid running into “awkward silences” and/or running out of “things to say” to the woman you’re talking to (because you’ll have “a clear blueprint” for moving things forward), but you’ll also be able to “close the deal” and set up future dates with her, and ensure she actually shows up, and the date ends up with you hooking up with her, not just with a hug or a handshake.

And the reason why you’re going to notice all these girls kind of changing their opinion about you is because of the concept of creating a sexualized persona.

You need to burn the fact that all women want to have sex. But they don’t want to take the “responsibility” for making it happen. Instead, they want guys who can make it happen for them.

Let me repeat that again: Women want guys who can make it happen for them.

That’s why some guys (often the same guy) continue to get laid over and over again. That’s why “that guy” you can’t even stand up to will continue to get all the chicks you want and have sex with them, every week, and will continue to steal all the girls from you, unless you figure all these stuffs out, pretty quick.

Listen.

Women need to believe that you’re capable of “closing the deal.”

They need to believe that you’re not going to let things become awkward along the way; you’re not going to put any of the “responsibilities” on her; you’ll not be afraid of showing to her that you’re totally comfortable with sex; you’re not going to get weird about it all of a sudden. Women can pick up on all these subtle things within a few minutes of talking to you.

So, ask yourself, am I being that guy?

If the answer is not a firm “yes,” then you need to make necessary changes, starting today.

Are the changes difficult or easy, you might be thinking.

Fortunately, the changes are simple and easy.

“The Sexy Handshake”

Here’s a simple trick you can use to immediately display to a woman that you’re the type of guy who can make it happen.

So the next time you’re talking to a girl and you shake each other’s hand, I want you to hold it just a few seconds longer than you’d normally. Let her pull her hands away first. By holding her hand just a little longer, you quickly let her know that you can make it happen. Try this trick tonite and see what happens.

Do not worry about feeling uncomfortable doing this. If you do this over and over again, you’ll start to relax and become calm when you actually do this. If you do this correctly, she’ll instantly view you as a guy who can make it happen. And, that’s what is important.

Before, when I was starting to learn the game, I used to be the one to pull my hands away from the girl I was talking to, first. Back then, I wasn’t acting “sexual” as I was always hesitant to take the risk.

Then one day, I could take it no longer anymore. That’s when I threw myself on getting this part of my life handed, once and for all. I read, watched, and listened to everything (books, forum posts, audiobooks, videos, etc) I could get my hands on about seduction, dating, psychology to learn how to send sexual signals to women. I also hit the bar almost every day.

I tested everything I learned on girls I was meeting on the streets, cafes, malls, or anywhere else. After almost five thousands of trials and errors, I kept everything that worked, and removed what didn't.

Finally, I was able to boil it down to these

3 Simple Steps To Instant Sex

I know you want to learn about this stuff, now, right?

Okay, if you're ready for this, go grab a coffee or a drink or something, come back and sit, as I take you to a journey that can help you become very comfortable with your sexuality and attract hordes of women who'll plead for you for sex, in the shortest possible time.

Here's what this simple seduction system will teach you:

- A simple tactic for taking a "normal" conversation (platonic type conversation) into "sexual level," without being creepy.
- How to verbalise your desire for her without being a pushover, try hard, or losing value. (I'll reveal to you one of my "favourite moves" you can use to verbalise your desire, without even saying a word.)
- Powerful, yet easy-to-use techniques that'll bring out the "wild" side of her.

Now, why did I write this three simple steps to instant sex, you might be thinking.

Here's why: You need a "blueprint"; otherwise, you can easily get sucked up in a "platonic-type" conversation with the girl you're interested in, romantically or sexually, where you only wind up talking about boring, sexless topics, like your job, family, religion, politics, hobbies, etc, and completely ruin any chance of bringing it back on a "sexual level" again.

That's why you need this "3 simple steps to instant sex" guide.

Downshifting To Sex

This system relies on a ground-breaking concept, “downshifting to” sex.”

When you’re having a conversation with a beautiful woman, you cannot always communicate with her in the same level (gear). You must also interact with her in different levels (gears).

Just imagine for a while you’re driving a car. If you own a car, or know how to drive one, you probably already know that you cannot just jump from the first gear to the fourth, without going through the second and the third gear, first.

If you do, you’ll stall out pretty quick.

Now, why does the conversation stalls out, you must be thinking.

Well, that happens because you never created up the required RPMs that could handle that kind of gear change. Same concept applies to all of your interactions with women. That’s where most guys “mess things up.”

So, if you’ve been interacting with a woman in the first gear, like most “nice guys,” then you’re doing it wrong!

Why?

Simply because the woman can’t feel your “sexual energy.”

And if, at the end of the night, you desperately try to jump into the fast lane (4th gear), you’ll find it almost impossible to change gears, as if it’s already too late.

But the 3 simple steps that I am about to reveal to you can make each transition extremely effortless so that you do not wind up messing things up that you’ve already built so far with her.

The above reason -- not being able to transition from “normal” conversation into “sexual” level -- is by far the numero uno reason why most guys get dragged into the friendzone.

They talk endlessly with the girl, being all “friendly” and “nice” for months after months, and finally, when they do summon up the courage to make their move, they do it in a “creepy” way, like, confessing their feelings to the girl and expecting her to feel the same way.

But, as I’ve learned from my past failures with girls, I can tell you that this “classic” move won’t work!

With that said, here are your...

3 Simple Steps to Instant Sex System

Step #1: “Rated-R Switch”

If you’re losing girls, most likely it’s because girls don’t feel “sexual connection” with you. In other words, she doesn’t feel “sexual” around you. You see, a woman is constantly looking for guys who can bring that “wild” (sexual) side out of her; someone who knows how to get her aroused and make her horny.

So the first thing you must do is: Let her know that it’s completely okay to bring out her “wild” side out. Releasing this “wild side” is the first important step to “closing the deal” (and getting her back to your apartment.)

And, in order to release her “wild side” out, you’ll need to take the conversation into the “Rated-R territory.”

In other words, you need to have that “type of conversation” that a parent would not feel comfortable having in front of their children. Because “the rated conversation” is real, edgy, and a lot more exciting.

But, as soon as they come into contact with the women they like, most guys turn into a “Nice Guy” for rated PG movie. They become afraid (and even ashamed) of saying anything that might remotely offend her, or worse, letting her know that you’re the kind of guy who likes sex.

That’s the reason why most guys talk about “friendly,” “safe,” and “PG” topics.

Have you watched a PG movie lately? Yeah, you know, the boring, predictable, and not the least bit sexual.

So the first thing you need to immediately do is: Change the “mental frame.” Stop worrying that you might say something that’ll offend her.

Listen.

Girls love the ‘locker-room talk.’ They love the gossip, the dirt, and honesty of a locker room talk.

How do I know this, you must be wondering.

Well, you see, when I was living with my girlfriend, Katy, I used to hang around with her friends a lot too. In fact, most of the time, we all used to sleep over at the same apartment with 10 other girls.

And because I was often there, they sort of let their guard down around me and forgot I was there.

And I would sit there listening to them.

Do you know what I heard? Yeah, the “lock room” talk.

You know, the type of conversation you have with your buddies at the “frat house.” You know stuffs like who’s dating who, which guys girls thought would be great in bed, which guys were stalkerish and creepy... and which guys were too pussy to make a move.

So how do you bring the conversation to “locker room talk” (or Rated-R)?

Here’s how: Make an R-Rated observation about something that is happening around you.

For instance: Let’s say, you’re at a bar, and there’s an older couple sitting next to you, a man and a woman.

You could say something like...

“That couple over there, see them? Yeah, I feel they sort of give a ‘swingers vibe.’ I can imagine them at one of those 70s parties where all the couple put their keys in a fish bowl and swap out husbands and wives based on what key they’ll pull at the end of the night...”

“... do you get that vibe from them... or is it just me?”

Did you see what you just did? You jokingly used your situation as a way to bring a sexualized topic (swinging) in an innocent way. In other words, you shifted from the first gear to the second.

Once you’re in the second gear, throw in a fishing line to “test the water,” and say something like...

“Now that I think about it, you kind of give off that swanky swinger vibe, too...” with a smile on your face and quickly change the subject, and see if she attempts to bring it back.

If she does, tease her a bit about being a swinger... or get into how it’s always the “innocent ones” that often wind up being the kinkiest, and accuse her of having a “kinky” side.

If she doesn’t bite the bullet, wait a few minutes, and then downshift your conversation gear again, using one of my other favorite techniques.

I've noticed that every girl I've ever interacted, even the most "nerdy" and the "shy" ones, when I open them a little bit, guess what they love talking about? You bet, the locker room talk!

Not only they love talking about it, but when you take the conversation to Rated-R, you instantly set yourself apart from hundreds of other guys who spend the entire time talking her in 'a safe mode.'

And, she'll find it refreshing to talk to you, and will want to keep on talking to you.

You also display to her that you're absolutely comfortable talking about "sexual topics," which helps her view you as the type of guy who can make it happen... without making things go awkward or weird.

And, by establishing yourself as a flirt, you also did one important thing: You established an atmosphere where seduction can take place, where she starts fantasizing about sex, and you can easily escalate her to go either for 'the kiss close,' or even pull her back to your place.

So what other ways can you turn the conversation to "Rated R?"

To put it in simple terms, "Rated R" is all about the subject matter and the way you play with them. It can be something as simple as changing your vocabulary and the words you use.

For example:

She's not being bad... "she's being naughty."

You're not gonna hit her... "you're gonna spank her."

If she's teasing you, say, "don't make me take my belt off."

And, "it's not a basement... "it's a dungeon."

And sometimes, even “specific” words, and the way you describe things up can turn on the Rated R switch. This is particularly effective when teasing her or making observations about her.

She has lust eyes.

She looks HOT and bothered.

Here are some other words with sexual undertones:

G-strings

Thongs

Panties

Urges

Fetish

Wet

KY

Gag reflex

Cougar

Whips and chains

Kinky

They are all “Rated R words.” It’s these types of words with “sexual connotations” you want to use in this (first) stage. You’re not using any of the “x-rated words.” Those are for later.

This is the “type” of conversation you want to establish in the first gear. Now, just because you can flip the conversation to the first gear (R-rated topics) that easily does not mean you become like a 13-year-old kid who always dwell on these things.

You simply establish that these are the “rules” of the conversation, and it’s completely fine to go there, so that when you finally begin to escalate the “flirtation” with her... it won’t come as a surprise.

And, once you have successfully taken the conversation to “Rated R”... you must then gear up your conversation to the “next level.”

Step #2: “Expressing Your Sexual Intent”

A little earlier, I told you about my past failures with many girls in the past. Back then, even though we had an amazing connection, I still couldn’t transition to a kiss and eventually wound up in the friendzone.

Because, I often skipped a very crucial step: I never expressed my “sexual intent” on girls.

Back then, I had just begun learning about daytime pickup and I was obsessed with not being the “Nice Guy” who buys her flowers, sings songs, writes bad poetry, and becomes too ‘agreeable.’

But as I began to shed off my “Nice Guy” ways, I began to notice I was getting more positive responses from a lot of girls. Then I began to think “the secret” to attracting any women is to... completely appear disinterested in her, sexually.

I also noticed other important things: Even though women didn’t view me as a asexual “Nice Guy” who they could control and manipulate, but still they were not sexually attracted to me.

Most women were not as confident as I initially imagined them to be.

Rather than being totally drawn to the “total challenge” I was presenting myself as... they simply gave up and moved on.

Hiding the fact that I was sexually attracted to them often just made them see me as “asexual,” or worse... “a closeted guy.”

And that’s what happened with other girls I dated in the past.

Midway through the night, as we continued to joke and laugh together, she had almost likely begun to think that I was not the kind of guy who can “make things happen.”

Sure, I was being playful, fun, and interesting to women and they loved hanging out and talk with me... but they probably just assume that I was not that “sexual kind of a guy.”

Then, one day I went out with one of my friends (let’s call him Key Damn). He was a “natural” when it came to flirting and seducing women, and I was totally dumbfounded as to know how he “scored” with the ladies... even when he displayed the obvious “Nice Guy” traits (complimenting women and telegraphing interest).

But since I was in a bit of a “dry spell” recently with women, instead of critiquing his “Nice Guy” behaviour, I decided to really pay attention and try to see if I could figure out why it was working for him.

And as it turned out, while one minute I was watching Key shamefully admit to a woman that she was turning him on, the next minute he was flirting with one of her friends and all but ignoring her.

This seemed to have the woman’s attention glued on Key.

As I continued to watch Key I noticed how he would verbally express his strong desire for her, but at the same time gave off an “impression” that if she walked away... his night would not be the slightest bit ruined.

In fact, he’d probably have another girl... within minutes.

At one point, Key actually began telling the girl what he was going to do her later “in the bedroom.”

Yet, a few seconds after saying this to her, he turned to me and asked me if I wanted to play a game of nine-ball with him. As we shot pool, the woman basically sat in the corner and stared at him the entire time.

As I started to put the pieces of the puzzle together, I realised this: It's not about completely hiding your desire and "pretending" to be indifferent to her. It's about "expressing" your desire for her, but really being indifferent towards the "outcome."

The woman Key was "flirting" that night in the bar knew that he found her sexually attractive... but she also got the impression that Key was so used to getting what he wanted from women he found sexually attractive... that if she disappeared, he would hardly notice she was gone.

In the past I had always been so focused on "expressing disinterest" that I completely failed to get her "interested" in me in the first place.

Listen.

There could be no "chase" if the woman isn't chasing you. You are not a "challenge" if the woman isn't intent on getting you.

In fact, it's your "initial interest" that makes a woman notice YOU.

But it's how you respond when she reciprocates that interest that either ignites the "chase" or makes her think: "I guess I was wrong about him... and he is hungry for my approval."

The Off-Hand Sexual Compliment

Here's a simple exercise you can do today: As you're interacting with a girl, being flirty and building connection, use a "strong statement" that makes her desire you.

Let's say, she says something funny. You look at her slowly and say, "Now, I am really interested. You're funny and incredibly sexy. I often don't find that often in other girls."

After you've said this to a beautiful girl, go back and have a "normal conversation" with her, almost as if you said nothing at all. If her friends are around, go and have a chat and "flirt" with them a little bit.

But, don't ignore her completely... just enough to ignite the "chase."

What happens when you put the "statement of desire" out there?

Here's what happens: It dramatically increases the "tension" between the two of you. And, as you already know, tension amplifies attraction. Do you now see why expressing your "sexual desire" is very important?

Remember: You're trying to establish yourself as a guy who can make it happen. You're telling her that you're not going to be happy with a simple hug or a handshake... and you're certainly not looking to be "just friends."

And, you're preparing her that you're going to "make it happen" so that when it does happen... it doesn't come as a surprise to her, later.

Here's one more added advantage of doing this: Once women view you as the kind of guy who can "make it happen," they in return begin to do things to make it easier for you. It's like once it's out in the open, she then doesn't have to play Miss Prude later, and... you won't have trouble "getting the kiss" and/or "closing the deal."

Now you see why it is super critical to "express your sexual intent" right after you've created some attraction? And, you've got to do it before you build too much rapport (comfort) or... run the risk of getting stuck in a conversation that doesn't allow it.

Here's an example of how NOT to show your "desire": Walking up to a woman and telling her that she has an amazing ass. Why it won't work? Simply because you have not created any attraction, first.

With that said, let me reveal you how to "properly" display your sexual desire to her:

Method 1: “The Toying Gaze”

If you’ve been talking to a woman and you sense there’s a bit of attraction between the two, you sort of lean back, and casually, as you’re listening to her, check out her ass, but do this in a slightly exaggerated way so that she notices what you’re doing.

I call this method the “Toying Gaze” because you’re basically letting a woman catch you checking her out... while also listening to everything she’s saying to you.

Not only women will find it intriguing, but you’ll also send her a subtle message that... you find her attractive, sexually.

That’s what I mean by expressing your sexual intent on a girl.

Method 2: “The Chemistry Test”

Earlier, I had promised to give a “secret method” to judge her attraction to you.

Well, here it is: As you’re talking to her, “wait” for her to say something that you agree with, and then... gently give her a “high five.” And, when your hands touch... let your hands linger a little bit longer than usual, and see how she reacts.

If there’s a chemistry between the two of you... she’ll most likely let her hand linger a little longer there.

If, on the other hand, she immediately pulls her hand back, it means you haven’t created enough attraction.

Try it next time when you're talking to a beautiful girl. This tactic works because it is simple and discreet and... it also tells you so much about her interest towards you.

For now, just remember: If you want to take the conversation to a "sexual level" (and avoid the dreaded "friend zone") and start getting physical with her right away...you must express your "sexual intent."

A few months after the incident with Marie, I met another girl, Jennifer.

Our date began innocently. We got to know each other over drinks, but in less than 3 hours later, we were in the basement of her house, and she was completely naked spread out on top of her pool table, inviting me to join her.

How did that happen so fast?

Because of 'the next step' I am going to reveal to you.

Method 3: "Escalate the flirtation"

This really is the "core" of the system.

My experience with Jennifer was NOT out of the ordinary. When you start to use this system, soon you're going to find:

- Seemingly "innocent girls" start telling you what they like in bed. She'll make "sexual jokes" with you, and she'll ask you what are you doing later.
- She's going to go out of her way to encourage you to 'go for the close.' You're not going to be left wondering what she's thinking, or whether or not you should go for it.
- She's going to make it impossible for you not to "close the deal," and get her back to your bedroom. She'll beg you to bang her.

Now, let's go back to the idea of "changing gears."

Earlier I talked about how if you try to change gears too quickly you will stall out. Well, if you've driven a stick shift car, you know there is an even more dangerous problem: staying in the same gear toooooooo long.

Just like you can ruin your car's transmission if you keep on driving in the "first gear" the whole time, you can blow it up if the attraction revs up too high in one gear and... you don't *shift.

That's why some women who seemed really into you find her attraction towards you fading away. Maybe, it was a girl at a bar you were "vibing" with, but then she just sort of went back to her friends and forgot about you.

Or, worse, maybe it was a girl you went on a date with, though things between the two of you going really smooth, until she starts to become "unavailable" to hang out... and simply stops answering your calls.

Here's the bottom line: You need to continually escalate the interaction to the "next level"... never letting it plateau.

And, here's how to do this:

Step #3: "Sexualized Flirting"

The word "sexualized" is very important.

Why?

Because without adding a strong dose of sexuality into your flirting, you can easily get caught in the trap of becoming that "flirty guy" that girls don't take seriously.

It will be like they laugh and talk with you, but in the back of their mind, you're just a "safe" and a "nice guy" they could never imagine sleeping with.

Sexualized Flirting

So there are some big differences with “sexualized flirting.” And with this specific type of flirting you begin to... introduce “sexual themes” into the conversation.

In other words, you use “stories” as a way to innocently transition to “talking” about sex, and getting her “thinking” about sex.

You use “playful games” with her to get her opening up her desires and her fantasies... and you get her feeling comfortable experiencing these emotions around you.

You tease her in a specific way that has “sexual undercurrents”... and even though she knows you’re only “teasing her”, there is an element of danger and excitement to the conversation that unconsciously begins to turn her ON.

You are very aware of the “sexual tension,” and you are able to control it, manipulate it, leading to rapid intimacy.

Even if your goal isn’t to try to sleep with a woman in the “first night,” this type of flirting ensures that you end your date with a kiss, and that you position yourself in her mind as a guy she is going to sleep with... (and not a guy that she wants to be “friends” with).

Here’s an example of a conversation “shifting gears:” (The both of you have been flirting and everything is being said playfully).

You: I can’t believe, you look like Lady Gaga. She’s so weird.

Her: Shut up. You’re probably a closet Lady Gaga fan. I can imagine you sitting home alone, with your iPod listening to Lady Gaga singing out loud. Hahaha.

You: You better watch out or you're going to get spend a little girl.

Her: Oh, did I embarrass you... haha?

You: We are totally having a pillow fight later... and I'm not gonna go light on you just because you're a girl.

Her: I'll totally beat you in a pillow fight.

You: I'm like the world champion of pillow fighting. I have to warn you I'm also known to be merciless at tickle wars. So if you start to get naughty you'll feel my wrath.

Okay. Did you notice how I shifted gears into more "sexual" topics? The conversation started with a Lady Gaga (innocent topic) and ended about tickling each other and acting "naughty" around her bed (something friends don't do).

So that would be like shifting from 2nd to 3rd gear.

Now, let me give you an example of how you can... shift from the 3rd gear into the 4th gear.

Remember: You need to keep shifting gears... because if the attraction revs up too high one the same gear and you don't shift gears... you can blow it up.

Her: Don't even think about it. I hate being tickled.

You: (Holding out her pinky) I pinky swear that unless you're acting really really "naughty," I promise not to tickle you.

(And as soon as you let go off her pinky... tickle her).

Her: (Smiling and laughing) I hate you. That was so mean.

You: You know what? I didn't notice it before... but you've got a really sexy smile.

Okay, did you notice how I once again shifted gears? I started joking about tickling... and actually getting a little physical (grabbing her hand for a "pinky swear" and then tickling her).

But most importantly, at the end, I said, "You've got a really sexy smile."

The last line is really important for one simple reason: It leaves no room for misinterpretations. It clearly lets her know that the two of you have been flirting, and that you find her attraction, sexually.

By doing all this, you avoided the possible "friendzone" type objections that could surface up later on.

Here's a secret: Women want you to find them sexually attractive.

I've dated and slept with a lot of girls, and do you know "what" compliment turn them ON the most? Which comment they'd beg me to say, over and over again?

It wasn't "You're so beautiful." Or even, "I love your green eyes."

It was "You're freakin' sexy..."

You see, an attractive girl knows she's beautiful. But she doesn't know if she's sexy. And when you can make a girl feel sexy, you can really unleash that "wild side" out of her.

I had a co-worker actually took my hand and put it down her panties just so that I could feel how "wet" she was. And we haven't even kissed each other yet.

Another girl, at the middle of the party, followed me into the bathroom and let me shave her pubic hair off just because I told her that's how I liked it.

After a sending this chick dirty email back and forth, she showed up at my house wearing a long trench coat on, and nothing underneath, and told me I had to be quick because her boyfriend was at home waiting for her.

You see, there's no limit to what women will do when you're able to release that "wild sid" out of her.

So, now you agree with me that it's better to go "sexual" right from the start, and not later? I hope you're nodding "Yes," because if you're not, you're risking entering the dreaded "friendzone" with the girl you're interested in.

Can we all agree that you must express your sexual intent to a girl? And, do you all agree that it's crucial that you get the first kiss, really quickly?

I didn't get the kiss during my first night out with Marie because I didn't know how to escalate. And, it took me almost 4 years to finally shake that "friend vibe" and get it.

Remember, the first step to getting that kiss early is: Taking the conversation to "Rated R level." If you paid attention, I think you know by now that by using the 'right' words, stories, and topics, it is actually pretty easy to take the conversation, sexual.

And, if you're not using this stuff, you're missing out big time, and probably losing girls to guys who are.

Also, you must also be constantly shifting gears with women and using "sexualized flirting" to keep the sexual tension alive.

Like I said earlier, if there ever was a girl you went out on a date with, and you thought things were going smooth... and then, all of a sudden, she starts to become unavailable to hang out and stops answering your calls, then... you didn't do a good job of keeping the "sexual tension" alive.

Here's the fact: Once you get a woman thinking about having sex with you... and get her imagining it and let that tension ligner... it's going to happen.

Jennifer spread herself on the pool table, with her parents sleeping in the other room like 20 feet away.

My friend Key from whom I learned all this stuffs from, he's got an iPhone full of pictures of naked girls. These are just ordinary girls that he meets outside of his work, but he does such a good job of setting himself as a "sexual guy" that these girls are sending him naked pictures of themselves and telling him how they can't wait to see him.

And, luckily I spent enough time watching him that I was able to "drill down" on what he was doing...

8-Point Seduction Guide

Here's the thing: If you've got a woman attracted to you (which I believe you do), but then you don't escalate towards seduction, she'll lose her interest in you sexually, really quick.

Once you've created attraction, you must then bring it to a seduction level.

I just gave you "the 3 simple steps" that'll take the attraction to the seduction level. And once you've done that, you'll then have to "close the deal" with her.

1: Slow down.

Once you sense there's a good "vibe" between the two of you, you need to slow everything down. That means, you speak slower, make slower movements, just take a breath, and slow down the back and forth banter down a bit.

2: Allow the tension to build.

Whenever a man and a woman are close by each other silence occurs and some tension develops. Most of us are always trying to diffuse that tension with more jokes, more flirting, and more stories.

Don't do that.

Instead, learn to enjoy the tension and use it to your benefit.

3: Lingering “Hi Five.”

One way I do this is after a woman says something I like or find funny, I put my hands up in the air to give her a high five. And when she slaps my hand high five, I sort of grip her hand a bit... and let our hands linger together. This will amplify the “sexual tension.”

5: Create Physical Connection

You need to create some sort of physical connection. Once again, the best way to do this is through your hands. Take her by the hand and lead her somewhere.

6: Get closer to her.

Let the sexual tension to build up by getting closer to her... either by sitting closer to her (or standing closer to her)... or leaning in closer as you walk.

7: Be neutral through all of this.

Drop the jokes, the flirting, and sort of become a little more vague. Look her into the eyes, and exude your “sexual power.” Let her know that you know fully well that you’re the more dominant “sexual creature.”

8: Kiss her.

9: Progress towards sex.

Remember: NEVER assume she doesn't want sex. ALWAYS respect her if she says no. But, always keep on trying until you get the "Yes."

And, here's the thing: You are responsible for creating that sexual desire in her. And yes, it can be created.

Everything I just suggested above triggers "sexual attraction." This is the reason why, perhaps, at some point, you became sexually attracted to a girl you didn't really like (or find physically attractive). It happens often times because the two of you move unknowingly into the "seduction mode."

Remember: Attraction isn't a choice.

If you do what I mentioned above (assuming that you're doing a good job of being flirtatious), then the woman won't be able to help but feel sexually attracted to you.

Here's what you're going to notice within a few months after applying all these concepts: You're going to feel really relaxed talking to women... and any "anxiety" you used to feel to approach them is going to be gone because the "anxiety" really comes from the fear of not knowing "what to do" -- or how to keep her from getting bored.

But that won't be a problem ANYMORE.

You're going to be naturally opening more women and feel in total control. In fact, you'll probably be turning down A LOT of girls. You'll also notice that some girls who used to blow you off, or flake on you... suddenly begin making themselves available, messaging you on Facebook, or even sending you random texts.

Now go out and make it happen.

Stay chill.

Abishek

P.S. I almost forgot...

In addition to what I shared to you in this report, there are, of course, a lot to learn about approaching women.

In my detailed book, Daytime Pickup 'Secrets': The Natural Progression, you'll get a detailed (step-by-step) plan for approaching women and building attraction instantly.

This course is particularly developed to help you get rid of that 'approach' hurdle with paralyzes many guys.

After implementing the mindsets, insights, and techniques shared in this report, you'll have the confident to approach ANY women, ANY time, in ANY environment.

Are you serious about SKYROCKETING your "approach women" success? Yes? Cool. Then I highly recommend you check out my one of a kind program, here.